The alarm of fire yesterday morning was caused by a slight blaze from a defective fuse at the home of John Fichter in Forest avenue. The Fire Department responded to the call, but fortunately their services were not needed.

Mr. T. C. Creekbaum of Dover, the manufacturer of "Creekbaum's Quick Relief," was in Maysville and placed his remarkable discovery on sale at J. J. Wood's drugstore. This ointment has already caused many cures of home people, who vouch for its efficacy. It is having a ready sale everywhere it has been introduced.

GROVER'S GOOD MIT
Wins Maysville Game Over Lexington, Score 3 to 2—Rivermen Lead

In a hotly contested game, Maysville finally won from Lexington in the tenth inning in that city by a score of 3 to 2, after a long pitcher's battle between Grover and Turner, in which the former had somewhat the better of his argument throughout. At that, Turner would have won his game had it not been for an error by Curtis in the first inning and a rather doubtful decision at the plate by Kelly in the same inning.

With the exception of one inning, Grover was complete master of the situation, but bases on balls kept him from a shutout. He fanned fourteen and allowed only two scratches.

hit; only three balls being hit to the outfield. Turner kept his bats well scattered and it was almost impossible for Maysville to hit when they needed bingles.

Curtis was the only out who hit Grover, getting both the biggies credited to the Lexington team, but he was responsible for the run that kept Lexington from winning, 2 to 1.

The score:
Lexington.....0 2 0 0 0 0 0 0-2

Two-base hits—Kunkle, Carmony. Home on Bases—Off Grover 5, off Turner 1. Stolen Bases—Edmondson, Welsh, Langenham, Reed, Williams. Struck Out—By Grover 14, by Turner 6. Left on Bases—Lexington 3, Maysville 8. Sacrifice Hits—Carmony, Woodruff, Grover. Sacrifice Fly—Crisit. Double Plays—Turner to Curtis, Turner to Crisit to Edmondson. Passed Balls—Kunkle 2. Time 2:10. Umpire—Kelly.

NOTICE
President Neal is in Mt. Sterling reorganizing the ball club there. It is the plan to form a stock company.

Lexington will make a desperate effort this afternoon to break even with Maysville in this week's game by taking a contest from them today at Lexington.

Frank Edlington, the slugger outfielder sold to Pittsburgh by Lexington about two months ago, has been sent by that club to Wheeling in the Central League for further seasoning.

W. H. Taft.

J. S. Sherman.

REPUBLICAN TICKET.

FOR PRESIDENT,
WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT.FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
JAMES S. SHERMAN.

It would be well for all Republican voters who have respect for themselves and hope for their political features, to think well before they throw away all their good work in the past for the "Grand Old Party" and join this crazy propaganda of the now wild and erratic Theodore Roosevelt.

Republicans, both white and black, you all know where the bolter always lands—on the outside, and, once a bolter, he never regains his party standing.

He is a sorehead and nothing more.

There is absolutely nothing in it for you in this Roosevelt twaddle.

Teddy is a dead one beyond the hope of of revival and the sooner you understand this the better it will be for you.

Roosevelt and you bolters can't hurt the Republican party. You may hurt Taft, but you can't hurt the party.

A renegade Republican is a political outlaw and he's like a man who's been in the Pen.; he loses his party standing entirely.

Our party is here to stay, and there are only two parties, the Republican and the Democratic. You must be either a Republican or a Democrat—

"Be a man or a mouse or a long-tailed rat."

There is no half-way house in American politics.

Independent, Bull Moose, Socialist, Temperance, and all the rest of the isms and asses of the political day, don't amount to a hill of beans.

The last fifty years of history shows any reasoning man that the Republican party is the party of American patriotism, protection and prosperity.

The Republican party is the very salvation of America's independence and vast wealth.

Time and again has it been demonstrated that Democracy spells riot and ruin to American institutions and American commerce.

Democratic "free trade" and Democratic "tariff for revenue only," are exploded idiocies that no longer interest or deceive any thinking American citizen.

The question of national taxation has been solved and proven by the system of commercial protection fostered by the Republican party for the past fifty years.

Compare the great leaders of the two parties, Lincoln, Sherman, Garfield, Grant, Blaine, McKinley and Taft, with the spouting orators of the sentimental Democratic party.

On the Republican side are the doers.

On the Democratic side are the talkers.

From Buchanan to Bryan and Woodrow Wilson what an array of mere political spellbinders, whose theories of popular government are as long as they are wrong.

As for President Taft, his administration needs no vindication, for the four years of Taft marks the very zenith in American progress and prosperity.

He who gainsays this, arraigns a mere assertion against the facts and the records and is only blinded by prejudice.

Taft won his second nomination precisely as he won his first nomination; by party rules as interpreted by the National Committee. Any other method would have been revolutionary.

We wouldn't give the one great essential economic axiom of "American Protection," for all the Democratic issues that ever burdened the records of Congress.

Mr. Voter, we say to you that the Republican party is the greatest moral and economic force in the history of all political parties.

The Republican party stands for the American citizen first; while the Democratic party, would as, Woodrow Wilson says in one of his books; make the Mongolians and the other races of China and the East, the equal if not the superior of the men from Europe who have helped build up American independence and America's unparalleled greatness.

Today the Southern States are vastly thriving owing solely to the Republican system of commercial protection.

Take the Tariff off of many Southern products and the South would be another graveyard of neglected opportunities and would even face worse conditions than those confronting her after Sherman's march to the sea.

Mr. Republican, it is well to look carefully before you leap into this troublous sea of muddy uncertainties which is even now filled with struggling masses of men who are disappointed and sour that they are not now feeding at the party crib.

Don't be a bolter. Stand by the party that stood by the Flag in the trying times gone by.

Remember that Theodore Roosevelt has repudiated the Stars and Stripes and his party is now the red flag party.

The "bandanna" is merely the red flag of Roosevelt, now the Socialist, if not the anarchist.

Stand by the Stars and Stripes and stick to the Grand Old Party.

Every man, woman and child in the United States is vitally interested in having men sent to Congress who are opposed to Tariff-wrecking—men who tell you that Tariff robs the farmer and the country have no business in the Congress or Senate of this country. Vote 'em down.—Okeene (Okla.) Eagle.

Political Pickings

Detroit Free-Press: The third-party politicians are now trying to prove that there is a difference between stealing and taking what you want.

Courier Journal: Judging from its finish the "Camora" in Italy was a Third Party run by a macaroni-eating Italian Roosevelt.

Chicago News: Ormsby McHarg, whom the steam roller used as a mat, will eventually get the gravel out of his skin.

Atlanta Constitution: Maybe the trouble with T. R. is that he doesn't want to be in the ex-President's class with Taft.

They sat by the sobol sea. Some waves danced the turkey trot and other waves murmured. But they were thinking only of each other.

"May I kiss your scarf?" ventured he.
"No," she said.
"Perhaps the hem of your jacket?"
"Speaking of wearing apparel, why not kiss my coat of tan?" she suggested.
Then he got wise.

BRICE'S CROSSROADS BATTLE

Prominent Part Taken by Third Iowa Cavalry in Battle and Retreat—Many Were Killed.

In answer to Comrade Riley I will give a condensed report from Colonel Noble (Third Iowa cavalry) to Adjutant General Baker of Iowa, writes W. E. Hayden of Portland, Ore., in the National Tribune, which ought to satisfy him as to the part the cavalry took at Brice's Crossroads: "Headquarters Third Iowa cavalry, Near Memphis, Tenn., August 9, 1864. "Sir: I have the honor to report as to the part taken by the Third Iowa cavalry in the expedition under Gen. Sturgis. Approaching Brice's Crossroads at 11 a. m., this command went into line of battle by battalion on the right of the main road, and soon after the artillery opened in front. We then advanced beyond Brice's about 500 yards. After forming in line with the balance of the brigade the cavalry was dismounted and the horses sent to the rear. Soon after we became heavily engaged with the enemy, and held them in check for an hour. On the left of our brigade the enemy was driven back three different times. At this juncture my whole command was relieved by regiments of infantry, and was retreating when the infantry became engaged. We formed a new line in their rear, rather than to appear to leave them in an emergency.

"The contest lasted but a short time after this, and the enemy was hotly pressing his victory, and we took a second position, mounted, to protect the retreating column. A column of squadrons was again formed facing the enemy and retired by alternate squadrons, keeping the enemy in check.

"Our greatest difficulty was to cross the swamp in our rear, and in it were caught most of the artillery and train of the army. Arriving at Stubbs' plantation, we rested from 11 p. m. to 2 a. m., when we again moved toward Ripley, holding the rear. At Ripley I found the infantry filling the streets, and was notified that the enemy was about to attack on the left. I formed a column of squadrons, faced to the rear, and at the same time was ordered to support the Fourth Iowa cavalry, then in action. Deploying a battalion, I ordered it to the rear, and at the same time pushed forward another battalion in column to hold the road of retreat for the other troops. My advance in line was made under severe fire, but officers and men were cool and kept a steady line. The enemy was checked and the position held until his object attained. Then General Grierson ordered me to retire.

"To retire was difficult, for the enemy, having no resistance elsewhere, were flanking as well as pressing from the rear. Their fire was redoubled as we moved again upon the road. In this stand we lost several men. Much relief was given to the infantry regiments who were retreating from Ripley, and the enemy did not escape without punishment; his flag was seen to fall three times under our fire and many of his men were killed and wounded. Platoon after platoon was thrown out right and left along the road, presenting a front to the rebels. This method of defense was continued throughout the day. A cavalry force and an infantry command finally appeared and gave my regiment temporary relief. But the enemy, still pressing the cavalry, failed to hold their place, and a portion of the infantry was thrown into confusion and captured. Colonel Thomas, commanding the infantry, applied to me for relief, and I formed another battalion line, supporting it with several squadrons placed at advantageous points. The infantry passed through my line, and I was once more contending with the enemy. I was finally relieved by the Fourth Iowa cavalry. The losses in my regiment were 62 killed, wounded and prisoners.

—John W. Noble, Colonel, Third Iowa cavalry.

Robin Hood, Who "Robbed the Rich to Feed the Poor"

"Here, underneath the Lytle alone, lies Robert, Earle of Huntingdon. For twenty years and something more hee rob'd the rich to feed the poor. No archer was as hee so good. And meene did call him 'Robin Hood' such outlaws as hee and bys menne Will England never see agayne."

SO RUNS an old rhyme. The man a was written undoubtedly lived and was known from one end of England to the other. But whether half the stories told about him is ROBIN HOOD true is quite another matter. It is hard in writing of Robin Hood to sift fact from legend. This story can but tell the popular version of his career without vouching for its entire truth.

Robin Hood is said to have been born in 1160, and to have been a nobleman's son who, through injustice, was outlawed. He too krefuge in Sherwood forest, in Nottinghamshire, England. There he gathered about him a band of unfortunate men as desperate as himself, and prepared to make war on the world at large.

It was a rude, violent age. Human life was held lightly. Laws were harsh. For shooting deer in the royal forests the penalty was torture and (for the second offense) death. The barons and other rich and powerful men could overtax and ill-use the poor almost without restraint. Persons who suffered under such tyranny had usually no redress. Often they revenged themselves by plundering their former masters and by preying on humanity at large. Says one old historian (Stow):

"In this time were many robbers and outlaws, among which Robin Hood and Little John, renowned thieves, continued in the woods, despoiling and robbing the goodes of the rich. The said Robin suffered no woman to be oppressed or molested. Poore men's goodes he spared; abundantly relieving them with that which by theft he got from the houses of the rich. Of all thieves maior (an early writer) affirmed him to be the prince and the most gentle theefe."

Robin and his band dwelt in the greenwood, patrolling the highroads and holding up rich travelers. Especially did they enjoy capturing dishonest money lenders and cruel landlords. Robin's favorite method with such prisoners was to conduct them to his secret glade and there regale them with a feast. (The food consisted largely of stolen deer and dainties filched from noblemen's larders.) After the meal he would suggest that they pay for their entertainment by giving him all their money and jewels. At other times he would go, disguised, to some town, make friends with a local rich man and under some pretext lure him to the forest.

That Robin did not steal from the poor was not an especially noble trait. The poor had nothing worth stealing. Moreover, by helping the peasants with a little money now and then he made them his friends and gave them an interest in warning him against his pursuers.

Robin and his men were splendid archers. Their skill with bow and arrow reached the king's ears. His majesty is said to have been so much pleased with the band's archery that he pardoned them all. But Robin could not long remain out of trouble. He fell foul of the law once more, and the sheriff of Nottingham was sent to crush him. In the woodland battle that followed the sheriff's men were beaten off. Soon afterward Robin fell dangerously ill. There was no surgeon nearby. So his men carried him to a convent, where his cousin was a lay sister. She had great repute in medicine and Robin thought she might save him. She dared not refuse shelter to the sick man for fear of his followers' wrath. But she dared not cure him, lest the king should hear that the convent had harbored and aided an outlaw. So, according to the story, she opened a vein in his arm and left him to bleed to death.

When the dying man learned of her treachery he set his bugle to his lips and blew a feeble blast. Little John, his lieutenant, heard it, and rushed to the sick room, Robin, so runs the old ballad, forbade Little John to take vengeance on the convent. Then, setting arrow to bow for the last time, he sent the shaft whizzing out through an open window and begged to be hurled at the spot where his arrow should strike earth.

A likeable, rollicking, sentimental outlaw. His life story (even stripped of all legend and folklore) seems to entitle him to a goodly place among Historic Blackguards.

Still Denied.
"Dibbles says his life has been a series of disappointments."
"Yes?"
"When quite small he cried for the moon, later on he wanted a musical comedy star and now he sighs in vain for a little son."

SOCIETY

The Misses Lucy and Fanny Lee last evening entertained with a most enjoyable reception at their pleasant home in South Market street, in honor of the Misses Forman, now making a visit to their former Mason county home, from far away India where they have been Church missionaries for many years.

A score or more were present at the Misses Lee's and all enjoyed the magnetic presence of the two distinguished visitors.

Mr. Henry Edgar Pogue, Jr., entertained with a delightful lunch party Thursday evening in honor of Miss Elizabeth Peed's guests, Misses Ollie and Kathryn Wood of Mt. Sterling, the party occupying Mr. Taylor's handsome launch. They were most pleasantly chaperoned by Dr. A. O. Taylor and wife.

The Misses Wood returned to their home in Mt. Sterling yesterday after a visit to their cousin, Mr. T. L. Ewan of East Fourth street.

YOUNG WIFE SAVED FROM HOSPITAL

Tells How Sick She Was And What Saved Her From An Operation.

Upper Sandusky, Ohio. — "Three years ago I was married and went to house-keeping. I was not feeling well and could hardly drag myself along. I had such tired feelings, my back ached, my sides ached, I had bladder trouble awfully bad, and I could not eat or sleep. I had headaches, too, and became almost a nervous wreck. My doctor told me to go to a hospital. I did not like that idea very well, so, when I saw your advertisement in a paper, I wrote to you for advice, and have done as you told me. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, and now I have my health.

"If sick and ailing women would only know enough to take your medicine, they would get relief." — Mrs. BENJ. H. STANBURY, Route 6, Box 18, Upper Sandusky, Ohio.

If you have mysterious pains, irregularity, backache, extreme nervousness, inflammation, uterine clots or displacement, don't wait too long, but try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound now. For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and such unquestionable testimony as the above proves the value of this famous remedy and should give every one confidence.

tor told me to go to a hospital. I did not like that idea very well, so, when I saw your advertisement in a paper, I wrote to you for advice, and have done as you told me. I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, and now I have my health.
